

SOCIETY

Old Friends Honor Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lewers on Golden Wedding Day

STANDING in a bower of golden blossoms—tributes significant of their golden wedding anniversary—Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lewers received their friends on Monday afternoon in their handsome home on Kewala street, from 4 to 6 p. m. The whole lower floor of this spacious home was open to the friends, who poured in a steady stream to greet and wish further years of happiness to this dearly loved couple.

"Uncle Robert" and "Aunt Kate," as they are affectionately termed by kamaealana, stood welcoming their friends with a cordiality which came only from the heart. One realized that the kindness given out throughout one's life is truly reflected.

With them was their daughter, Mrs. Arthur F. Wall, and Mrs. E. Wells Peterson, who was a flower girl at the wedding fifty years ago. Mr. William Lewers, son of this loved couple, met the guests and gave them a hearty welcome.

Also present were the sons, daughters, grandsons and granddaughters of the friends of the family, each happy to be with Mr. and Mrs. Lewers on such a memorable occasion.

The entrance hall was very pretty with long, graceful sprays and branches of golden shower and golden lilies. The library was a mass of yellow poppies, while the drawing room was a mass of gorgeous golden colors. The dining room table, where tea and cake were served, held an old blue Chinese bowl with a hundred or more golden lilies. Great baskets standing four or five feet high were filled with golden bloom.

The large mauka lanai was exquisite with branches and garlands of golden shower, bowis and baskets filled with golden cornucopia and the always lovely heronocallis lilies. Here tables were arranged and the guests served to delicious refreshments, for which the Lewers home has always been noted.

In the garden tea house "Dude" Miller's glee club furnished old-time Hawaiian melodies.

A huge golden wedding cake was on the dining room table, the lower cake being the fruit or wedding cake, while the top was a golden cake. It was fed and bore a golden wreath of leaves about the top. Mrs. Lewers cut the cake as she did that of half a century ago. It was then passed to the assembled guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewers were married in Honolulu July 16, 1867, Mrs. Lewers being Miss Kate Carter, a sister of H. A. P. Carter, Joseph Carter and Samuel Carter, long since passed beyond. Rev. Samuel O. Damon performed the wedding service. He, too, long ago passed on. His son, Mr. Samuel M. Damon, represents the family in Hawaii today.

The flowers in the home were the gifts of loving friends and relatives. Servants who have been with the Lewers family almost since their marriage are still with them.

No invitations were issued, so that no one might be forgotten. The three hundred or more who greeted the "bride and groom" came for the pleasure of being there on such a happy occasion. The two grandchildren, Katherine Lewers Wall and Robert Lewers Wall, assisted in the reception of the guests.

It was one of the occurrences in Honolulu now rare, for it was a party of pioneers and old friends with "old Honolulu" in its happiest vein—no formality—the very thing that has made Hawaii famous the world over; that innate hospitality and cordiality which are so natural and charming.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewers are still engaged in doing the things they have done always—lifting burdens from weary shoulders. Their good deeds in Hawaii cannot help but reflect blessing a hundred fold. No home in Honolulu extends a more cordial greeting than does this. The writer recalls, Mrs. Lewers' mother, who was exactly the same type of woman. Mr. Carter's kindly womanhood was a way to be depended upon.

Mrs. Lewers wore a pretty simple afternoon lingerie frock in white with touches of lavender.

Many handsome golden gifts were sent. On the front lanai were two flag-ship of Hawaii and the Stars and Stripes. A pretty incident was on Sunday afternoon when about a hundred Hawaiians came to see their dear friends. Mr. and Mrs. Lewers have always been loyal friends to the Hawaiian race, counseling and helping them over the hard spots in life.

Mrs. Jesse Young poured tea. She is Mrs. Lewers' niece, and Mrs. William Brown, another niece, served punch.

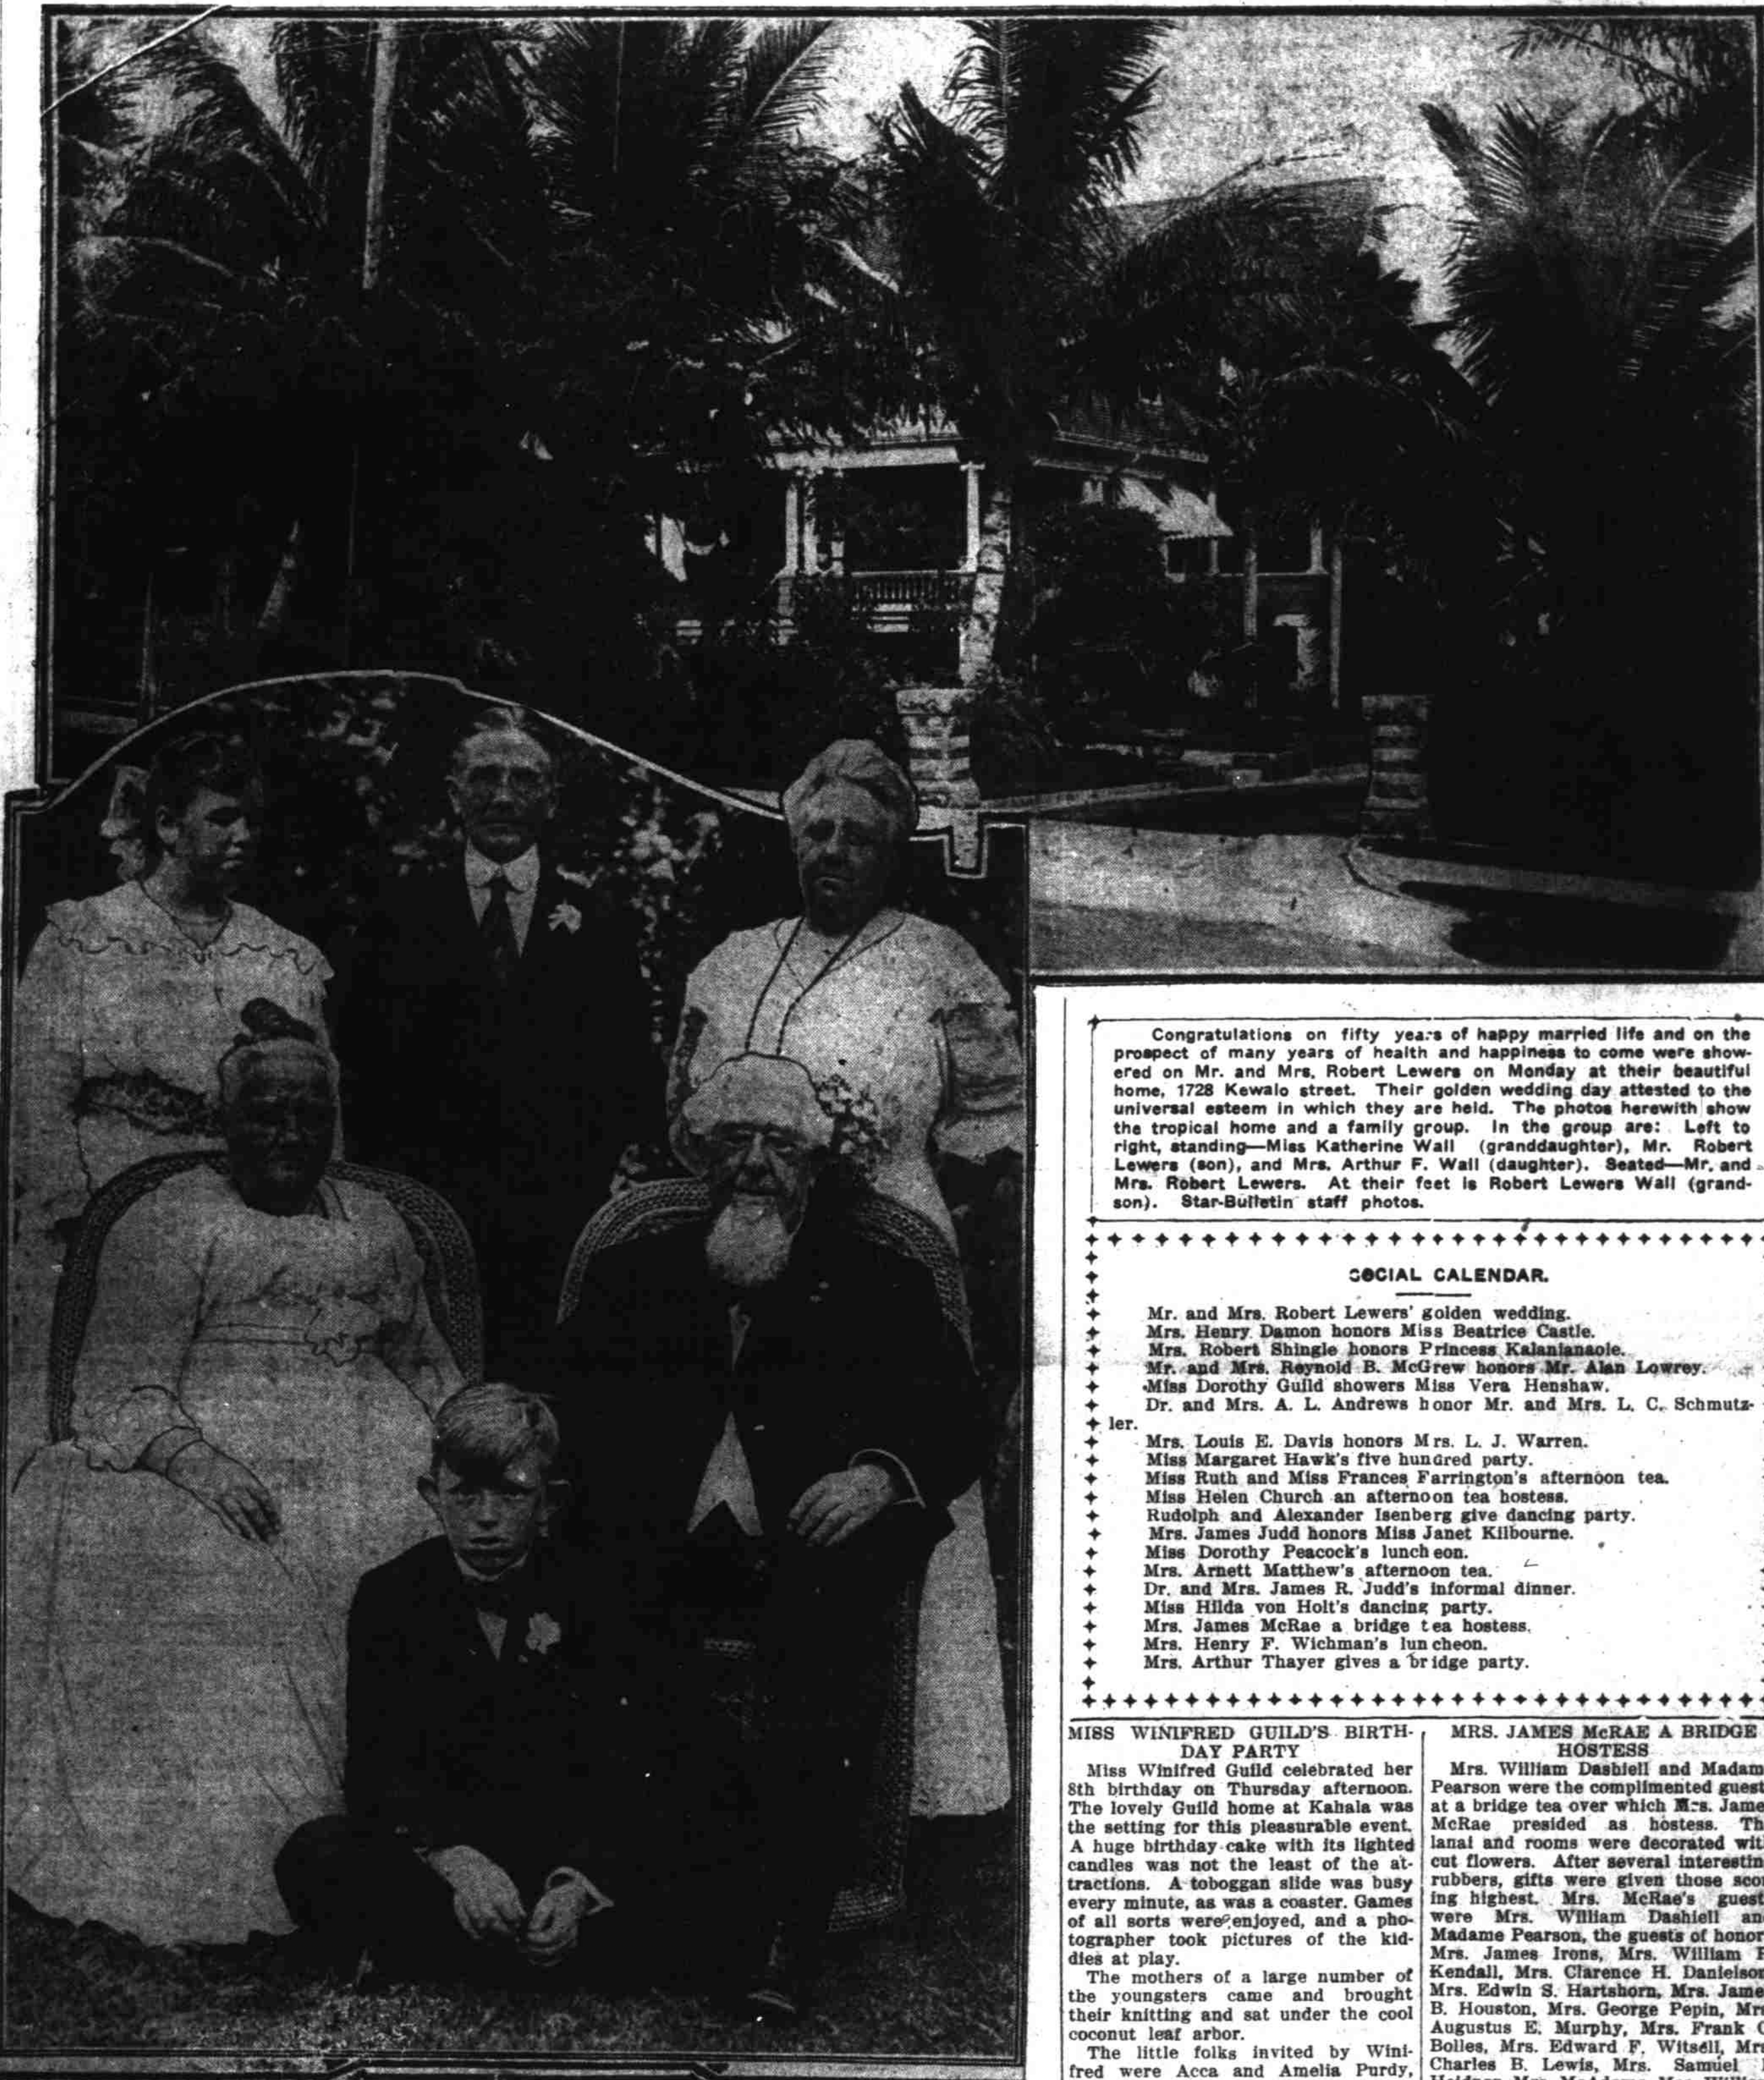

All of Honolulu wishes Mr. and Mrs. Lewers years of continued health and happiness. They left yesterday afternoon for a trip to Vancouver and Alaska which will take them away from home for two months. Their son, Mr. William Lewers, accompanied them.

COVELL-HENSHAW WEDDING
On Tuesday morning at 7:30 o'clock in St. Clement's chapel, Makiki, Miss Vera Henshaw became the bride of Capt. William Covell of Schofield Barracks. They were married by Rev. Canon William Ault. After the marriage lines were read a special service followed, the bride party receiving at holy table.

It was a solemn, impressive yet simple service.

Rev. Canon Ault with Capt. Covell and Capt. Paul Price, who supported the groom, came into the chapel at 7:30.

The bride also came, leaning on the arm of her brother, Mr. Marshall Henshaw, who gave her into the groom's keeping. Mr. Henshaw and his sister were preceded by Mrs. Marshall Henshaw as matron of honor.

which was built very modestly. A shower bouquet of white orchids and white gardenias and sweet peas, with a shower of ribbon and lace form, was carried. A long square train suspended from the shoulders fell gracefully. A pretty sentiment shown was the train worn by the bride's mother on her wedding gown. A tulle veil held to the head with orange blossom buds completed this dainty frock.

Long graceful tulle sleeves were worn and just a bit of the bride's throat was to be seen. About fifty friends of the young couple witnessed the reading of the marriage service.

After the ceremony the bride party motored to the home of Dr. and Mrs. George Herbert. Here a wedding breakfast was served and later the young couple slipped away to spend a honeymoon in the country.

Their friends deeply regret their immediate departure for the mainland, for they sail on today's transport to the coast.

Mrs. Covell is the daughter of Mrs. L. M. Henshaw and sister of Mrs. Marshall Brooks Henshaw, whose wedding to Miss Rosie Herbert last month was one of the largest society events of the year.

Capt. and Mrs. Covell received very handsome wedding gifts of silver, crystal, china and linen.

MISS DOROTHY GUILD SHOWERS
BRIDE-ELECT

Last Saturday afternoon Miss Dorothy Guild was hostess at a handkerchief shower, favoring Miss Vera Henshaw. Two dainty little girls, Winifred Guild and Miss May, carried a basket to the coconut-leafed lanai. On the lawn where the guests were assembled apparently it was a basket of sweet peas, but upon closer observation it was found to contain a dozen or more dainty handkerchiefs. Knitting and pleasant chat made a happy afternoon.

Miss Guild's guests to meet Miss Henshaw were Miss Ruth McChesney, Miss Ann Johnson, Miss Sara Lucas, Miss Martha McChesney, Mrs. Merwin Carson, Mrs. Frank West, Mrs. Marshall Henshaw, Mrs. Ralph Clark, and Mrs. Grover Batten.

MRS. JAMES JUD'S TEA
Miss Janet Kilbourne was the motif on Thursday afternoon at a very pretty tea given in her honor by her aunt, Mrs. James Judd. The rooms were attractive with great baskets of golden poppies and ferns. Each girl had to write a limerick or two and the prizes were given for those writing the best verse. Cards were played and other games enjoyed.

Those invited by Mrs. Judd to meet Miss Kilbourne were Miss Marjorie Thatcher, Miss India Wayson, Miss Babes Focke, Miss Harriet Richardson, Miss Elizabeth Wall, Miss Katherine von Holt, Miss Katherine Elston, Miss Marjorie Guild, Miss Hildred Church, Miss Helen Church, and Miss Muriel Peterson.

MRS. LOUIS E. DAVIS HONORS
MRS. L. J. WARREN

Mrs. Louis E. Davis entertained at a very pretty luncheon on Wednesday, honoring Mrs. Louis J. Warren, who leaves shortly for the mainland. The luncheon table was daintily with gracefully arranged sprays of Mexican creeper in a tall-handled gilt basket, the handle being tied with a huge maline bow. Dainty sprays of this blossom were scattered over the damask. After luncheon knitting and sewing were the diversions.

Mrs. Davis' guests were Mrs. Louis J. Warren, Mrs. Archibald Guild, Mrs. John T. Warren, Mrs. George A. Brown, Mrs. Vida Thrum, Mrs. Ray-

Allen, Mrs. Oscar Phillips, Mrs. C. G. Bockus, Mrs. Robert McLean, Mrs. Antonio Perry, and Miss Mabel Armstrong.

SUMMER IN CALIFORNIA
Mr. and Mrs. M. McHenry Train and their daughter, Miss Mary Train, of New York, are spending the summer in California. They arrived a few weeks ago from Honolulu, where they spent the winter. Part of the summer will be spent at Lake Tahoe.

Mr. E. Swift Train, whose engagement to Miss Elinor McNear has been announced, is established here in business with McNear & Co.

MRS. ARNETT P. MATTHEWS
GIVES A TEA

Mrs. Arnett P. Matthews entertained on Wednesday afternoon at a small informal tea honoring Mrs. Raymond Bliss, who left on today's transport. The large lanai was very cool and inviting with palms and ferns, and the rooms were daintily with baskets of golden shower. Mrs. Matthews' guests were: Mrs. Raymond Bliss, Mrs. George R. Callender, Mrs. A. R. White, Mrs. Horace D. Bloomberg, Mrs. Orville Tyler, Mrs. J. Morton Riggs, Mrs. Nelson Lansing, Mrs. Benjamin Edger, Miss Huff, Mrs. Frank E. Keefer, Mrs. Frank McStocker and Miss Julie McStocker.

WEDNESDAY MORNING BRIDGE CLUB
The Wednesday Morning Bridge Club met at the Country Club and played from 10 to 1, when luncheon was served, the guests then dispersing. Mrs. Daniel Gienty was hostess on this occasion and those playing were Mrs. George Callender, Mrs. Raymond Bliss, Mrs. Robert Duennier, Mrs. Frank Keefer, Capt. and Mrs. Frank Baldwin, Madame Lohman, Miss Ann Johnson, Lieut. Eugene H. Lohman, Capt. John Smith, Capt. Henry Merriam, Capt. Samuel Tilghman and Dr. Alexander.

MRS. ROBERT McLEAN'S KNITTING BEE
Mrs. Robert McLean was hostess at a very informal knitting bee on Friday afternoon with Mrs. Louis J. Warren as the guest of honor. About a dozen ladies enjoyed this pleasurable affair.

Congratulations on fifty years of happy married life and on the prospect of many years of health and happiness to come were showered on Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lewers on Monday at their beautiful home, 1728 Kewala street. Their golden wedding day attested to the universal esteem in which they are held. The photos herewith show the tropical home and a family group. In the group are: Left to right, standing—Miss Katherine Wall (granddaughter), Mr. Robert Lewers (son), and Mrs. Arthur F. Wall (daughter). Seated—Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lewers. At their feet is Robert Lewers Wall (grandson). Star-Bulletin staff photos.

- ### SOCIAL CALENDAR.
- Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lewers' golden wedding.
 - Mrs. Henry Damon honors Miss Beatrice Castle.
 - Mrs. Robert Shingle honors Princess Kalaniana'ole.
 - Mr. and Mrs. Raymond B. McGrew honors Mr. Alan Lowrey.
 - Miss Dorothy Guild showers Miss Vera Henshaw.
 - Dr. and Mrs. A. L. Andrews honor Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Schmutzler.
 - Mrs. Louis E. Davis honors Mrs. L. J. Warren.
 - Miss Margaret Hawk's five hundred party.
 - Miss Ruth and Miss Frances Farrington's afternoon tea.
 - Miss Helen Church an afternoon tea hostess.
 - Rudolph and Alexander Isenberg give dancing party.
 - Mrs. James Judd honors Miss Janet Kilbourne.
 - Miss Dorothy Peacock's luncheon.
 - Mrs. Arnett Matthews' afternoon tea.
 - Dr. and Mrs. James R. Judd's informal dinner.
 - Miss Hilda von Holt's dancing party.
 - Mrs. James McRae a bridge tea hostess.
 - Mrs. Henry F. Wichman's luncheon.
 - Mrs. Arthur Thayer gives a bridge party.

MISS WINIFRED GUILD'S BIRTHDAY PARTY

Miss Winifred Guild celebrated her 8th birthday on Thursday afternoon. The lovely Guild home at Kahala was the setting for this pleasurable event. A huge birthday cake with its lighted candles was not the least of the attractions. A toboggan slide was busy every minute, as was a coaster. Games of all sorts were enjoyed, and a photographer took pictures of the kiddies at play.

The mothers of a large number of the youngsters came and brought their knitting and sat under the cool coconut leaf arbor.

The little folks invited by Winifred were Acca and Amelia Purdy, Virginia and Lillmore Watson, Josephine Marques, Helen Pentland, Helen Campbell, Melisha Shingle, Melvia Shingle, Adrain Balch, Bernard Balch, Ena Madson, Enid May, Genevieve Hudson, Helen McGonagle, Margaret Kinney, Ruth Currie, Gordon Hodgins, Billie Hodgins, Elizabeth Bell, Jean Bodge, Carolyn Shepherd, Elizabeth Shepherd, Gwendlyn Waterhouse, Margaret Gere, Reynold McGrew, Robert Cockburn, Patsie Kinney, Fritz Kroll, John Dominis, Carol Jones, Helen Curry, Elizabeth Kilbourne, Katherine Kilbourne, Bess and Jean Nowell, Elizabeth Cooper, Muriel and Billie Campbell.

The kiddies played and romped and ate ice cream, cake and candy, and then went home, all having thoroughly enjoyed themselves.

CAPT. AND MRS. GEORGE R. CALLENDER'S DINNER

Capt. and Mrs. George R. Callender entertained on Friday evening complimenting Capt. and Mrs. Raymond Bliss. The table was charming, a basket filled with pink roses and lace fern being a pretty centerpiece. After dinner the guests motored to De Russy and here enjoyed the dance that was on at the post hall. Capt. and Mrs. Callender's guests were: Capt. and Mrs. Raymond Bliss, Capt. and Mrs. Robert Duennier, Col. and Mrs. Frank Keefer, Capt. and Mrs. Frank Baldwin, Madame Lohman, Miss Ann Johnson, Lieut. Eugene H. Lohman, Capt. John Smith, Capt. Henry Merriam, Capt. Samuel Tilghman and Dr. Alexander.

MRS. ROBERT McLEAN'S KNITTING BEE

Mrs. Robert McLean was hostess at a very informal knitting bee on Friday afternoon with Mrs. Louis J. Warren as the guest of honor. About a dozen ladies enjoyed this pleasurable affair.

MRS. JAMES McRAE A BRIDGE HOSTESS

Mrs. William Dashiell and Madame Pearson were the complimented guests at a bridge tea over which Mrs. James McRae presided as hostess. The lanai and rooms were decorated with cut flowers. After several interesting rubbers, gifts were given those scoring highest. Mrs. McRae's guests were: Mrs. William Dashiell and Madame Pearson, the guests of honor; Mrs. James Irons, Mrs. William P. Kendall, Mrs. Clarence H. Danielson, Mrs. Edwin S. Hartshorn, Mrs. James B. Houston, Mrs. George Pepin, Mrs. Augustus E. Murphy, Mrs. Frank C. Bolles, Mrs. Edward F. Witsell, Mrs. Charles B. Lewis, Mrs. Samuel I. Heidner, Mrs. McAdams, Mrs. William B. Cochran, Mrs. William E. Hunt, Mrs. Alden C. Knowles, Mrs. Eugene H. Hartnett, Mrs. Robert Duennier, Mrs. Charles Lincoln, Mrs. Daniel Gienty, Mrs. George Clark, Mrs. Ralph C. Holliday, Mrs. Hill, and Mrs. Brainard Taylor. After cards refreshments were served and a pleasant social hour enjoyed.

DR. AND MRS. CHARLES BRYANT COOPER'S DINNER PARTY

Dr. and Mrs. Charles Bryant Cooper entertained on Wednesday evening with a very pretty dinner. The table was ornamented with pastel shaded transvaal daisies and lace ferns. After dinner the rugs were pushed aside and dancing enjoyed.

Dr. and Mrs. Cooper's guests were Col. and Mrs. R. McA. Schofield, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Focke, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Chillingworth, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Case Deering, Col. and Mrs. Frank Keefer, Mrs. E. R. Stackable, Mrs. Janet Lewis of Hilo, Miss Bertha Ben Taylor, Miss Margaret Schofield, Mr. Malcolm Franklin, and Governor Lucius E. Pinkham.

MR. AND MRS. HAMILTON P. AGEE'S INFORMAL DINNER

Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton P. Agee entertained informally on Monday evening at their Manoa home. A basket filled with golden shower blossoms made a very effective central decoration.

Mr. and Mrs. Agee's guests were Mrs. Ernest Waterhouse, Mrs. Grafton Beall, Mr. Byer of New Orleans and Capt. John Brooks. Bridge was the diversion following dinner.

MISS LADY MACFARLANE ENTERTAINS

Miss Lady Macfarlane is giving a week-end party at Ahulmana, for Capt. and Mrs. Richard Kimball, who leave shortly for the mainland.

MANY were the friends gathered at the dock on Wednesday to meet Frederick A. Schaefer, Jr., and his bride, who was Miss Kathryn Williams of Spokane, and whose period of residence here until her recent trip home had given her a wide circle of acquaintances.

The spokesman-review of Spokane tells of the wedding as follows: "Miss Kathryn Williams of Spokane and Frederick A. Schaefer, Jr. of Honolulu were married last evening at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Kirtland K. Cutter.

"The ceremony took place promptly at half after 8 o'clock and the beautiful Cutter chalet, surrounded by its terraces and sunken gardens, its poplars sweeping black against the sparkling background of the city's lights, made a most romantic setting for the affair.

"The living room was in green and white, the altar at the east end was formed in a laial fashion of white trellis work, entwined with asparagus ferns, white syringa and white peonies were banked at each side with palms. Among the fringed branches the lights of many candles flickered. Over the archway of the alcove was a garland of white stock and syringa. On the stairway, down which the bridal party came, the posts were decorated in tall stands of the white blossoms. There were baskets of roses and sweet peas about the room.

"Leonardo Brill led the orchestra and gave a short program before the ceremony.

"The ushers were the first to appear after the wedding march was sounded. The bridegroom, accompanied by George T. Doolittle, the best man, and the Rev. Dean Hicks, who performed the ceremony, came from the den at the right of the entrance hall and awaited the bridal party. The ushers were H. P. Bittner, Runcan Matthews of Seattle; Alvin Jensen, John Penn Fix, Edwin Matthias and Ralph Nevera.

"Next came the bridesmaids, two by two, first Miss Evelyn Dillingham and Miss Margaret Jensen, next Miss Harriet Post and Miss Ramona Ham and then Miss Helen Grinnell and Miss Sybil Spencer. Their frocks were most effective and summery of point d'esprit over white taffeta. Three of them were in pink and three in yellow. Their coiffures were low with wide brims of the net to match their costume and held in place with garlands of roses for the girls in pink and garlands of marguerites for those in yellow. The ones in the rose color carried nosegays of small rosebuds and the others marguerites. The effect was like a June meadow, it was so pretty.

"Miss Marjorie Capps, the bride's cousin, and maid of honor, preceded her. She was all in deep rose, her gown being a most effective one of rose georgette and satin with a satin train.

Bride is Stately, Radiant.

"The bride came last on the arm of her cousin, Mr. Capps of Seattle. "She wore white chiffon with gold embroidery in a Greek design on the skirt and her bodice was of thread lace of cowberry sheerness over a white satin slip. Her veil was simply arranged, falling over her face and cascading in long folds in the back and forming the train of her costume. "She wore her hair smoothed back from her low forehead and was crowned with a wreath of orange blossoms. She appeared stately and radiant. Her bouquet was of white orchids and pale mauve ones imported from the East.

"Mr. Brill played 'O Promise Me' during the reading of the services, and later the guests were received by the young married couple. The ushers, following the example of the bridegroom, turned their attention to the bridesmaids and kissed each of the receiving line in turn.

Enjoy Informal Dance.
"After supper an informal dance was enjoyed. Punch was served on the gallery overlooking the garden.

"The place was lighted by red-shaded wrought iron lanterns, and the candles flared in the wind like torches.

"The dining room table was exquisite with its fillet cloth, and the chandelier was in the shape of a huge pink bell with a bunch of pink sweet peas for the clapper. The centerpiece was a round mound of pink roses and sweet peas and white asparagus with a wedding cake at one end, decorated in orange blossoms of white sugar. The cake was cut by the bride, and the ring was found by Miss Sybil Spencer and the thimble by Mrs. Clyde M. Graves. When going up the stairway the bride waited until the bridesmaids gathered in a circle about the steps, and threw her bouquet, which was caught by both Miss Marjorie Capps and Miss Ramona Ham. The bride's gifts to her bridesmaids were little emerald lockets on gold chains.

Sail Immediately for Honolulu.
"The young couple will sail immediately for Honolulu, where the bridegroom is a member of one of the prominent families of the islands.

"The bride's traveling dress was a blue tailored suit with a high white stock and a military cape of black, lined with white, and a black hat most smart and becoming.

"The bride's mother, Mrs. Cutter, wore silver lace over white, and her bouquet was of orchids. The towns last evening were gorgeous.

"The many weddings of this summer have made the season unusually brilliant, and the wedding last night was impressive. There were about 150 present. The gifts were of much beauty, a chest of silver, china, linens and many beautiful dishes of silver, and there are the gifts from the friends in the islands which are waiting the young peoples' home coming.

MRS. JACK HAYES' INFORMAL TEA.
Mrs. Jack Hayes was hostess at a small informal tea at the Outrigger Club on Friday afternoon, complimenting several of the ladies who left on transport.